

Remote product development and testing.

Wafer Innovation Center.

At Bühler we are convinced that these exceptional times need unique and fast solutions.

Food trends are shifting to more healthy and nutritious foods as well as more convenient ones. So the current global market offers tremendous business opportunities under challenging circumstances. Speed to market is key. To react as quickly as possible the Wafer Innovation Center offers special services by means of digitalization.

Product development – just a click away.

Meetings and discussions can be scheduled via phone or video conferences. Product development, trials and tests can be performed via livestream and can be documented on video. Our lab equipment and our food technologists are available and working for you without the necessity to be physically present. Furthermore you can taste the samples, as they are shipped to you as soon as the tests are completed.

Benefits

Speed to market! Use the change as a chance.

Simple set-up! Use your common, digital office equipment.

Jointly reduce CO₂ footprint by avoiding travelling.

Save cost and time of travel

Work dynamically with our expert team.

Get your samples after testing.

Please contact us with your specific need!

Innovationcenter.bhw@buhlergroup.com
www.buhlergroup.com

Innovations for a better world.

